

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A simultaneous broadcasting receiver of this invention receives simultaneously both analog and digital broadcasts transmitting an identical content, changes input systems according to a reception status of the digital broadcast, and is configured in such a way that a power to an analog broadcasting receiver is controlled according to the reception status of the digital broadcast. In this configuration, based on the reception status of the digital broadcast, it is possible to reduce power which is otherwise unnecessarily consumed.